Good Morning Everyone,

I wanted to pass along some hopefully useful information regarding the upcoming distribution of government stimulus checks. As you see below, I've sent two links on the subject. I was about to send out the first one when I received updated information.

I've decided to still include the first one from the IRS because I know some of you may have heard this info from another source. Apparently decisions were made to change the IRS plan. For the updated plan, please see the second link.
